A Change of Heart.

Via the S. F. Alta.
We met to-day, for the first time since he
And I were rivals for fair R. walls.
She loved me best. He told her I deceived
And cared not for her. She the lie believed.
Piqued; she eloped with him. The nearly ten Years since that happened. Now we've met again.
Met face to face. Though years had flown think not
That I, the lie he told her, had forgot.
Quick as a flash the memory of it came.
And well I know, with him. It was the same.
Our eyes met, and I thought that I could trace
A look of deep remorse upon his face.
I took him home to dine and have him see
By own sweet wife, worth ten of R. walls.

FASHION IN NIGHT-DRESSES.

What "Clara Belle" Has to Say About Chemise and Other Things.
From the Cincinnati Enquirer.

Coquetry in night-dresses is as much indulged in as ever. The coy maiden is often as careful as the bride in ar ranging herself for sleep. Even beads are now quite extensively used in the embroidery of the bosom, making a fine surface, truly, to abrade the wear er's flesh, if she be given to lying on her face. The day of the night-cap is completely gone. Few old women and no girls now make themselves frightful by covering their heads with caps. A new practice among girls is to sleep with their hair flowing free, and the sight of it spread out over a white pillow is certainly very winsome;
but there are tangles in the morning to pay for it. A more sensible plan is to wear a net. Pink and blue rib bons in knots at the shoulders, baby fashion, is one of the new kinks; and the extreme of absurdity is reached when a night-gown is discarded alto gether, and the arms, legs and bosom are left bare all night by a mere apolo gy for a chemise. This nonsense, however, is not much indulged in by respectable women. A novel night robe shown in the stores is a modifica tion of the much-ridiculed chemise.
It has both sleeves and trousers at tached to its body. The wearer gets into it through a slit up and down the front, and then buttons herself in.
The cut is jaunty, the trimmings elabo rate, and the idea seems to combine taste with utility. It is cut to fit the figure loosely, and, if the figure be reasonably good, the effect ought to be quite entrancing. Night-gowns are a new toilet device. They are made of cloth or unbleached kid, and are worn with a view to keep the hands soft and white. Some of them are alleged by the dealers to be medi cated. While on this general subject, I may as well say that with the in creasing use of porous-plasters, liver pads, heart-discs and electric breast
-plates, the body of the average woman
when she undresses for bed is grotes quely spotted.

MALE CORSET-WEARERS.

The Use of Stays by Men Common in Europe.

From the Chicago Times.

I received recently a letter from a gentleman in New York, who writes to ask me if it is a fact that French gentlemen habitually wear corsets, and he quotes the allusion made by Alphonse Daudet, in the "Nabob," to the white satin corsets of the male guests at the imperial fetes of Com piègne. One message in his letter is so curious and interesting that I will transcribe it for the benefit of my readers: "The writer was educated in one of the best private boarding schools at Vienna, Austria, remaining there from the age of 12 to that of 17.
In common with all my fellow pupils,
who were sixty in number, I wore corsets during the whole of my five years' stay at the school. I was in formed by my teacher that Viennese gentlemen, as a rule, wore corsets, and that the discipline was naturally en forced to all their scholars. My stays were very tightly laced, my waist, being but eighteen inches in circumfer ence, yet I never experienced a day's illness, and used very much to enjoy the sensation caused by tight lacing.
When I left the school I discontinued the practice, partly from the fear of being ridiculed by my friends, and partly because it seemed too effemi nate a custom for a young man en gaged in an active business life; but I have retained some interest in the matter, and I understand that many English gentlemen wear corsets, and that the practice of tight lacing among men is becoming very general in Eu rope." It is undoubtedly a fact that a great many English gentlemen wear stays, particularly when they ride on horseback. So general is the custom becoming that certain corset makers in London now advertise themselves as gentlemen's stay makers. The practice is also quite prevalent in Prussia, particularly among the offi cers of the army. But a stiff and up right carriage is not considered in good taste among the Parisian exqui sites, and so the white satin corsets of the dandies of Compiègne have found but a few imitators in France.

REV. MR. MILLER'S KISS.

Bestowed too Frequently to Suit the Con sistory of His Church.

From the New York Sun.

ROXBURY, March 10.—The Rev.
Benjamin F. Miller, late pastor of the Dutch Reformed Church of this village, who lost his charge on account of the scandal created by his habit of kissing his landlady, Mrs. David Williams, is in fresh trouble. His defence has been that the salute was a holy kiss, that was a medium of grace rather than of harm. The affair led to the resignation of his pulpit, but it was arranged by the consistory of his church that he should continue to hold the services until April 1. When Mr. Miller went to the church last Sunday he found the pulpit occupied by the Rev. Mr. Case, of Ulster county. On asking an explanation,
Mr. Miller was informed that on ac count of fresh intelligence that had reached the consistory he would not again be allowed to occupy the pulpit.
It is stated that on being told what the intelligence was, Mr. Miller retired without further demur. The state ment that reached the consistory is said to have come from an old woman named Mrs. Nat. Bonton, who has been employed as a domestic in the Williams family, and is to the effect that since the former trouble she has seen Mrs. Williams sitting on Mr.
Miller's lap, his arms about her, and a free exchange of kisses going on.
Mr. Miller's purity of motive is thoroughly believed in by some of his late congregation, and the husband of Mrs. Williams expresses perfect confi dence in her integrity of conduct.

Is thorough in its Medicinal Action, and yet so agreeable

to the taste that patrons of ten disregard our injunction to divide the lozenge into parts (say two doses) to meet their respective cases. At the outset it is especially essen tial to observe the directions closely till one becomes ac customed to its use—when mild action and the most satisfactory results are sure to follow.

Ladies and children, and those who dislike taking pills and medicines to secure cathartic action,
are especially pleased with its agreeable qualities.
Try it once, and you will esteem it highly as a safe, pleasant, and effective remedy.

MIDDLE-AGED MEN.

There are many at the age of thirty and six ty who are troubled with too frequent evac uations of the bladder, often accompanied by slight smarting or burning sensation and a weakening of the system in a manner the pa tient cannot account for. On examining the urinary deposits aropy sediment will often be found, and some small particles of albu men will appear, or the color will be of a thin milky hue, again changing to a dark and torpid appearance. There are many men who die of this difficulty, ignorant of the cause, which is the second stage of seminal weak

WHAT'S IN A NAME?

Apropos of new verses of Tennyson's, a friend remarked to us some years ago that "after a man has acquired a reputation he can write most any kind of d—n nonsense and people will think it first rate." And he was about right. People read and admire the poor productions of noted authors which if published anonymously would attract no attention. There is much in a name, sometimes. Thackeray used to tell a story of overhearing two waiters talking about him in a hotel. The dialogue ran as follows:

"You see that man?"
"Yes."
"That's the celebrated Mr. Thacker."
"You don't say so! What did he do?"
"D—d if I know!"

This story of Thackeray's furnishes an illustration of how a man's name may become more famous than his deeds, just as after the nomination of James K. Polk for the Presidency people would stop shouting "Hurrah for Polk" to ask "Who the d—d is James K. Polk?" Here's a story from the April Atlantic in illustration of the power of a name:

"A few months, or years, ago—it doesn't matter which—a certain friend of mine took it into his head to try a curious experiment. My friend is a distinguished man of letters, whose manuscript is as good as gold at any publisher's counter. Though a writer of books, he is an experienced magazine man, and it was in connection with magazines that he proposed to test the value of a name. He prepared his article with all the skill he knew, had it copied by his daughter, and sent the copy to the editor of the leading literary magazine of the United States. After a delay of six weeks the manuscript was returned to my friend, who promptly dispatched it to another chief magazine. The nameless contribution was again returned to the author. No, it was not 'some poor little prose sketch.' It was a little masterpiece. To cut a long and dismal story short, five American magazines refused (and two very curiously) to print a paper for which any one of the five editors in question would have paid ten times its weight in gold, if he had known who wrote it. My friend enjoyed the matter immensely. He took especial delight in a note which accompanied one of the declinations. It was written by a sub-editor, presumably a young man, who saw so much 'promise' in the essay submitted to him that he proceeded to give my friend a few general hints on the subject of literary style."

It seems possible, after reading the laughable experience of the "distinguished man of letters" in the East, that communications from the omniscient editor of the S. F. Report, or the brilliant genius of the Sacramento Bee might find their way into the waste basket if sent anonymously to some magazines.

EDITORIAL NOTES.
The Atlantic for April is a number of more than usual interest. The following is the table of contents: The Portrait of a Lady, chapters XXI-XXIV, by Henry James Jr.; Concerning Dead Love, Rose Terry Cooke; What We Learn from Old Aryan Words, John Fiske; The Longing of Circe, Cameron Mann; Friends; a Duet, X, IX, Elizabeth Stuart Phelps; Voltaire's School Days, James Parton; The Wives of Poets, IV, William M. Rossetti; Her Ghost, Louise Chandler Moulton; The New Sunday, Julius H. Ward; Sonnet, Frances M. Brown; Reminiscences of Washington, XI—the Filmore Administration, 1850-1853; Secrets, Ella Wheeler; The British Philistine, Richard Grant White; Jonson's Garrison and other Biographies; The Last State of English Whiggery; A Century of Dishonor; Two German Novels; The Contributors' Club; Books of the Month.

Not one man in twenty can drive a nail straight, and without denting the wood into which it is driven. And as for women—well, if there is one living who has ever driven a nail straight without mashing her fingers and splitting the wood, she is a curiosity of the rarest kind. If a nail is to be driven into an article of any value by an expert hand, let the following precautions be observed: Select a sound nail.

File the point into the shape of the edge of a cold chisel. Rub the nail with beeswax. Bore a hole into the wood with a brad-awl. Rub the face of the hammer upon a brick or a piece of sand-paper, or anything that will roughen the surface. Then put the nail in the hole and drive away.

The increasing popularity of cooperative stores in England has furnished the text to Charles Barnard for a brief article in Scribner for April, entitled, "The Shoppers' Rebellion." He points out the effect which this successful movement has already had on this side of the water, and predicts a more thorough revolution in the present relations of shopper and shopkeeper. The same number will have an account of the new cooperative apartment-house system, now meeting with much favor in New York. It will be accompanied by estimates and engravings.

Some improvements have been made in the bicycle, doing away with many of its disadvantages. The principle improvement consists in attaching two spur wheels to the axle of the driving wheel. By their use a 34-inch driving wheel can be propelled as rapidly as the ordinary form of bicycle with a sixty-inch wheel. Another modification enables the rider to alter the gear of his machine so that he can travel up hill at ease, though slowly. The new bicycle is much safer than the old.

A permanent exhibition of ores and mining implements is to be opened in Denver, Colorado, next September. The exhibition building is to cost $250,000. Clarence King has promised to loan one set of specimens from the triplicate geological collection which is now being made under his direction. It is intended that this exhibition shall display every natural fact and artificial process known to mining engineers. It will be distinctly national in its character, but collections, machinery, illustrations and treatises from abroad will be welcomed.

Prof. Agassiz was relatively orthodox in his religious belief, and yet he flew into the face of the Holy Scriptures which were written for our learning, to the extent of declaring that the land reaching from Trenton Falls to Saratoga, New York State, was the first that emerged above the sea on the creation of the world. There are found trilobites modeled in black marble, fossils so ancient that they must have lived millions of years before man came on the earth.

Ex-Senator Booth told a New York Tribune reporter the other day that California is in a prosperous condition. The great trouble, he says, is in getting grain to a foreign market. Ships enough do not go to San Francisco to carry away the wheat. Mr. Booth thinks the only remedy lies in an isthmus canal. "Last year," he said, "we raised in the Pacific States and Washington Territory one ton of wheat for every man, woman and child."

Some of the merchants complain that other merchants are violating the Sunday law, and say that unless the law is enforced they will all throw their stores open. It would be a great pity to have this law become a dead letter. Both man and beast are better for a day of rest. It is a holy law of nature, and should be observed. It has improved Reno wonderfully, and is a benefit in every way.

A boy of six was asked in a New York Court if he understood the nature of an oath. He said he knew that the devil would punish him if he lied. Perhaps the little fellow had a deeper insight into the current theology than many older heads.

Neither Ohio nor Iowa has a Secretary in the new Cabinet, for the first time in the history of the Republican party.—Sentinel.

How about Kirkwood? Isn't he from Iowa?

The Bull Run mining district, 60 miles from Elko, is to be provided with a 60-stamp mill, by an English company that has bought some of the mines.

Alexander Campbell began on Saturday the argument for the prosecution in the Kallach case. The case will not be likely to go to the jury for a day or two yet.

Clarence King has resigned his position on the government mineral survey in this State, and the vacancy has been filled by the appointment of Major Powell.

The Plumas Eureka mine is experimenting with Frue concentrators, with a view of using them in saving its sulphurets.

Some old fool has introduced a bill in the Illinois Legislature to prohibit elopements. No particulars are given.

LAW OF THE STATE OF NEVADA

Passed by the Tenth Session of the Legislature, 1881.

CHAP. XVIII.—An Act to amend an Act entitled "An Act to regulate proceedings in civil cases in the Courts of Justice of this State, and to repeal all other Acts in relation thereto," approved March 8, 1869.

[Approved February 8, 1881.]

The people of the State of Nevada, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows:

SECTION 1. Section Three Hundred and Seventy-six of said Act is hereby amended so as to read as follows:

Section Three Hundred and Seventy-Six. All persons, without exception, otherwise than as specified in this chapter, who, having organs of sense, can perceive, and perceiving can make known their perceptions to others, may be witnesses in any action or proceeding in any Court of the State. Facts which, by the common law, would cause the exclusion of witnesses may still be shown for the purpose of affecting their credibility.

SEC. 2. Section Three Hundred and Seventy-Seven is hereby amended so as to read as follows:

Section Three Hundred and Seventy-Seven. No person shall be disqualified as a witness in any action or proceeding on account of his opinions on matters of religious belief, or by reason of his conviction of felony, but such conviction may be shown for the purpose of affecting his credibility, and the jury is to be the exclusive judges of his credibility, or by reason of his interest in the event of the action or proceeding as a party thereto, or otherwise, but the party or parties thereto, and the person in whose behalf such action or proceeding may be brought or defended, shall, except as hereinafter excepted, be competent and be compellable to give evidence, either viva voce or by deposition or upon a commission, in the same manner and be subject to the same rules of examination as other witnesses on behalf of himself, or either or any of the parties to the action or proceeding.

SEC. 3. Section Three Hundred and Eighty is hereby amended so as to read as follows:

Section Three Hundred and Eighty. The following persons cannot be witnesses: (1) Those who are of unsound mind at the time of their production for examination; (2) Children under ten years of age who appear incapable of receiving just impressions of the facts respecting which they are examined, or of relating them truly.

SEC. 4. Section Three Hundred and Eighty-One is amended so as to read as follows:

Section Three Hundred and Eighty-One. A husband cannot be examined as a witness for or against his wife without her consent, nor a wife for or against her husband without his consent; nor can either, during the marriage or afterward, be without the consent of the other, examined as to any communication made by one to the other during marriage. But this exception shall not apply to an action or proceeding by one against the other.

SEC. 5. All Acts and parts of Acts in so far as they conflict with the provisions of this Act are hereby repealed.

CHAP. XIX.—An Act to amend Section One Hundred and Thirty-Nine of an Act entitled "An Act concerning crimes and punishments," approved November 26, 1861.

The people of the State of Nevada, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows:

SECTION 1. Section One Hundred and Thirty-Nine of an Act entitled "An Act concerning crimes and punishments," approved November 26, 1861, is hereby amended so as to read as follows:

Section One Hundred and Thirty-Nine. If any person or persons shall, knowingly, buy or sell any goods, wares or merchandise, or any valuable thing by false weight or measure, or shall, knowingly, use any false measure or false weight at any mill, in taking toll for grinding corn, wheat, rye or other grain, or shall, knowingly, use any false weight or weights, or false scales, or false steelyards, or false balances, or false measures for any purpose in buying or selling or trading any article whatever, he or she shall be deemed a common cheat, and, on conviction, shall be fined in any sum not to exceed two hundred dollars or imprisonment in the county jail not more than six months, or by both such fine and imprisonment.

SEC. 2. All Acts and parts of Acts in conflict with the foregoing Act are hereby repealed.

SEC. 3. This Act shall take effect and be in force on and after its passage.

This bill, having remained with the Governor five days (Sunday excepted), and the Senate and Assembly being in session, it has therefore become a law without the signature of His Excellency, the Governor, this 8th day of February, A. D. 1881.

A New Illuminating Oil Which Will Not Burn the Skin.

Highly interesting experiments with a newly-discovered mineral essence took place a few evenings ago, at the laboratory of the eminent Parisian analytical chemist, M. Wurtz. Having filled a lamp with the liquid in question, and ignited the wick, M. Kordig, the discoverer of the essence, the ceiling lamp against the ceiling, besprinkling the bystanders as well as himself with the flaming fluid, which, however, to the astonishment of all present, proved utterly devoid of heat or burning capacity. He then soaked his pocket handkerchief in the essence and set it on fire; the essence burnt itself out, but the handkerchief remained unburned, as did his hat after subjection to a similar trial. Then M.M. Wurtz, Dumas and Friedland plunged their hands in a pan filled with the burning liquid, withdrawing them with fingers all alight, like so many jets of gas. They experienced no sensation of heat whatsoever upon the skin surface, thus apparently in a state of active combustion. Other experiments followed of an equally wonderful nature, conclusively demonstrating that the "Kordig essence" is capable of producing light without heat.

By a surveyor's blunder, a substantial brick hotel was built in a Philadelphia suburb on a lot forty feet from the one bought for the purpose.

The roads to Como are now open.

NEW TO-DAY.

Building Insurance in Reno.

To place myself right before this community in the first place say that if I have ever committed a mean act I would like to have the person come forward and show me wherein. I will in the second place say that I cannot say so in regard to one of my competitors in the insurance business, and to place myself before the public I will here state the facts of a transaction that has just transpired between myself and A. J. Clark, and last C. T. Bender to cap the climax. On or about the 14th of March in the year 1899, I placed a risk of insurance on A. J. Clark's stock of general merchandise in the stone and brick store he now occupies on Sierra street. The amount of the risk taken was $12,000. I forwarded Mr. Clark's application to the general agents in San Francisco, and it was accepted and four policies were sent to cover the risk, of $3,000 each. On the same day the policies were delivered to Mr. Clark. This C. T. Bender went to A. J. Clark and caused him to cancel the policies and insure with him in his companies. They had some sharp talk, but Mr. Bender could not prevail on Mr. Clark to cancel the policies, but retained them until their expiration, which was March 14th, 1899. Before the expiration Mr. Bender goes to Mr. Clark to have him insure with him for the year 1899. Mr. Clark told him that he would insure with him provided he could give him better rates than Knox could, which he did according to Mr. Clark's statement to me. He told me Bender made it an object to insure with him. I made no ado about that; of course he had the right to do so. He got the best terms. This winter along I have had frequent talks with Mr. Clark giving me his insurance for this year, and he told me that he would apply to me for a policy. I told him I would take it at a less rate than Bender. I told him I could as I had some non-bond companies that could take risks at less rates than the Board companies, as they were not bound to certain rates. On the 7th of this month I called on Mr. Clark at his store and he presented to me an application to insure $10,000 on his stock of general merchandise. The application has been in San Francisco on the 5th. The same day the general agents wrote me that the risk was "accepted and that the policies would go forward next Saturday if you do not say anything to the contrary." On Sunday morning on going to the post office, I found the policies. On Monday morning between 8 and 9 o'clock I delivered five policies, of $2,000 each, to Mr. Clark's book-keeper. In the afternoon Mr. Clark came to the office and said that he would have to cancel the policies; that he was in Bender's power, and he would be likely to make him trouble unless he got the insurance on the goods, and he offered me some other insurance—two houses in West Adair, three houses on the alley below Odd Fellows' building, and two buildings on Virginia street. I said to Mr. Clark: "Why don't you let Mr. Bender have those, as you have the policies on your goods?" "Well, Bender is bound to have the insurance on the goods, let what would come." I said to Mr. Clark: "I cannot help you in the matter. You will have to write to the general agents. Mr. Clark left to see Mr. Bender and I heard nothing more from him until Wednesday morning. I got a letter from the general agents in San Francisco, with the accompanying letter, which is here annexed:

RENO, NEV., March 14th, 1899.

JACOB & EASTON,

Gen'l. Agts., San Francisco,

DEAR SIR: I beg to inclose policies:

JOTTINGS.

—Trout are still scarce in the river.

—Dr. Bergman is having his office enlarged.

—There is nothing new in the Justice's Court.

—Laycock has painted a big sign on Brookins' new store.

—The new counter has been put in the County Clerk's office.

—A dozen men are at work cleaning out the Kelley ditch.

—The water mains for the south-side was laid across the bridge to-day.

—Stocks are worse to-day. Ophir sold at $3.10 this morning. Jupiter is assessed 25 cents.

—A bar of bullion valued at $540, 935 fine, was brought in from the J. & K. mine on Saturday evening.

—Mat Parrott reports plenty of ducks on the meadows. He says he has never seen so many there as now.

—Dan McCarthy is breathing the air of freedom after six months of retirement. There are only three prisoners left in the jail.

—The Odd Fellows are preparing for a social celebration in the hall of Truckee Lodge on the evening of April 26, the sixty-second anniversary of Odd Fellowship in America.

—Lake's ranch is the largest in the county. A thousand acres are under fence and about 900 under cultivation. The soil is excellent and there is plenty of water. It is probably the best ranch in the State.

—A good many people who have been troubled with dyspepsia, etc., have found Glen Alpine mineral water to be very useful. It is not unpleasant to take, and is very healthy. H. Mohrs is agent for it.

Indian Census.

The census shows that there are 3,000 Plutes in Nevada. Three hundred and ninety-six of them are at Pyramid and on the Truckee up to and including Wadsworth. Captain Dave Nu-ma-na did the work, and it is correct. Major Henshaw is one of four officers detailed from Washington to get the Indian census. He is now in Oregon but is expected here daily to take a census of the Washoes.

Plumas Mines in New York.

Plumas county mines are exciting a good deal of interest in New York city. The Green Mountain is paying 10-cent dividends. The Cold Strike has paid three fifteen-cent dividends. The Cherokee will soon be paying. The Southern Eureka is not on the board, but is held in New York. It is expected that a good many New Yorkers will be out here this Summer to see the mines.

AN ELECTRIC KISS.

The Shocking Incident Which Startled Sheriff Walker in the Lake House.

Electric kisses are sometimes read of in novels, where the expression is of course figurative and fanciful. But a kiss was delivered in Reno the other evening which was actually and physically electrical.

There is a room in the Lake House which for some unexplained reason is constantly full of electricity. Under favorable atmospheric conditions, sparks can be drawn from the stove by approaching a finger near the iron. This room has been occupied by Sheriff Walker and wife. One evening last week the Sheriff entered, and advanced to kiss his wife. As he bent to salute her, a spark flew from her lips to his, causing a smarting sensation to both him and her. The Sheriff says the phenomenon was never experienced there before, and no one has heard of such another case.

The only explanation that is offered of the electric condition of the room is the fact that a stove in it communicates directly with the chimney, but that seems entirely inadequate. Usually there is no appreciable amount of the electric fluid in the apartment, and the stove refuses to yield an electric spark to the defiant knuckle.

Miss Kate, the pretty and modest chambermaid at the Lake House, says she never heard of any electric kisses being given in any other part of the hotel than the room occupied by the Sheriff and wife, and theirs is the only instance of such a thing that has come to her ears. Mr. Vesey, the clerks, and all the lodgers at the hotel, say the same.

Two Funny Letters.

The Enterprise says many curious letters come to the Comstock from all parts of the world, addressed to Mr. Mackay. Not long since a man wrote asking him to furnish $1,000,000 with which to buy up all the goats in the world. Having got hold of all the goats, and secured to themselves all future increase of the animals, the writer said Mr. Mackay would thereafter monopolize the kid glove trade.

Recently came a letter from a young lady, who said she was living in a very dull and stupid little country village. She was sick of the people and almost disgusted with her own mother; would Mr. Mackay kindly send her $25,000 in order that she might go forth into the world and seek some more congenial sphere.

A Heap of Snakes.

The sun was warm enough yesterday to bring the snakes out of their winter quarters. Some "garter" snakes were seen crawling out of an old well near G. W. J. Wilson's ranch at Glendale. Mr. Cecil and another man together killed 104. They pulled down the stone lining of the well, forcing all the snakes to come out. The snakes were about three feet long, with reddish stripes on the sides. They were of a harmless kind. The heap of dead reptiles was seen by C. T. Bender, M. J. Dillman and a GAZETTE reporter who happened to ride by as the last snake was being dispatched.

Progress of the C. & C. R. R.

The track of the Carson and Colorado Railroad, says the Dayton Times, is now laid about seven miles down the east side of Walker lake. It is being advanced at about the rate of one and a quarter miles per day. When the road reaches Hawthorne track-laying will be suspended for some thirty days, to give the company time in which to erect the buildings they will require at that point.

About May 1, passengers to and from Bodie will go by the new route.

The Son of His Father.

In a pleasant chat last evening, Mr. Dearborn of Chicago informed a GAZETTE reporter that Robert Lincoln resembled his illustrious father in size and appearance to a remarkable degree. "Uncle Abe" was six feet four inches high and very spare. Robert is about the same height, with the same bony frame, wide forehead and heavy jaws. He is very much respected and loved in Chicago, and the people there say he will fill the White House before the year 1900.

A Robbery.

A man was robbed of $100 in the Pyramid House on Friday night by a bono companion. He neglected to give any information to the authorities, and Constable Avery did not hear of the theft until Saturday night. In the meantime the thief got out of town. The victim was drunk on Friday night, and does not know how the money was taken from him.

A PALACE ON WHEELS.

The $36,000 Car in Which the Pullmans Travel.

Geo. M. Pullman's private car went west on No. 2 last night. Its inmates were Mrs. Pullman, her mother and little daughter, and Mr. and Mrs. Clark of Chicago. The car is the private property of Mrs. Pullman and is known as the Bridal Car. It is the finest car ever built, costing $36,000 five years ago when things were cheap. The body of the car is a dark brown. Plate glass windows extend nearly from floor to ceiling. Entering at the rear by a platform which can be entirely raised in, the first room is devoted to the smokers. It is finished in brown. Heavy curtains hang on the windows and leather covered chairs and sofas line the walls. Mrs. Pullman's apartment is provided with a wide folding bed which makes a handsome piece of furniture by day. A neat little dressing room adjoins it, furnished with every convenience. In the center of the car is the sitting and dining room. It is a marvel of the upholsterer's and wood carver's art. Heavy velvet curtains cover the windows, and a large mirror is set into the wall. Heavy cornices of Queen Anne style hang over the windows. The wood-work is beautifully inlaid in a fashionable style. A piano is built into one side of the aisle at the west end of the room, and a desk opposite. An alcove, furnished with seats, divides them from the kitchen and pantry. The kitchen has every convenience and artifice to economize room and make traveling comfortable. Mrs. Pullman comes to this coast every Spring, and in Summer goes to the sea shore or to the lakes in her own conveyance. It is fun to be a millionaire.

A Lost Railroad Train.

There seemed to be a mystery about the west-bound overland train that went through Reno last Saturday evening. It was two hours late but no one seemed to know what the detention was, or where it occurred. From an old railroad man who was a passenger, a GAZETTE reporter learned the cause. The floods have washed out the Union Pacific tracks, and their trains have been crossing the river at Plattsburgh and running over the B. & M. road to Kearney Junction. Just before reaching the Junction, a branch of the B. & M. goes off southwest to Red Cloud, etc. The Union Pacific engineer did not understand the lay of the ground exactly, and instead of having the switch turned for Kearney, he kept right along, and got forty miles or so out of his course before the mistake was discovered.

The Cattle Market.

Hope and Slaven have gone to Honey Lake to look at Wheeler's cattle (300). There are not many more cattle left for sale. McIsack has about 180, and Styles 70. There are about 450 head in Sierra Valley. Mapes has some 600, and is on the road in with a band. His are said to be engaged. French will be in on Wednesday with 400 head. Cather has none for sale. Six cents is asked, and it is thought that the price will go higher.

The Reservation Case.

The case of the U. S. vs. Carmine & Cutting comes up to-morrow in the U. S. District Court in Carson. The Government has sued them for about $4,000 for trespassing on the reservation with their bands of sheep. The case is about like that of the fishermen. The jury will probably have to find them guilty. There is a great feeling here against punishing men for being found on the reservation in such cases as this.

Gone West.

T. H. Dearborn, General Western Passenger Agent of the Baltimore and Ohio road, went west last night. Mr. Dearborn is very well known on this coast and is building up a fine business for his road. He was San Francisco agent for Eastern roads for nine years and was the most popular passenger agent that ever was on this coast. The Baltimore and Ohio is the most picturesque and one of the best managed roads between Chicago and New York.

Personal.

Fred W. Wetherell is in Battle Mountain. He is going to Wood river in the spring.

R. M. Wilcox went to Greenville this morning. He is connected with the Plumas National mine.

J. Lipson, of the Southern Enreka Mining Co., came in from New York last night and went to Greenville on the stage.

BY TELEGRAPH.

An Extra Session of Congress Decided On.

New York, March 21.

A Washington special to an evening paper says: There is the best authority for stating that the President has finally decided to convene the 47th Congress in extra session, soon after the 15th, if not on the 15th day of April. The decision was arrived at on Saturday afternoon, after a consultation with Secretary Windom and other members of the Cabinet.

The Chinese Treaties.

WASHINGTON, March 21.

The Senate Committee of Foreign Relations to-day reported back the Chinese treaties with a recommendation in each instance for ratification without amendments. The treaties were therefore placed on the Senate calendar of executive business.

Going to Leave Us.

W. H. H. Wasson, acting Indian agent at Pyramid, went to Carson this morning. Mr. Wasson has made all arrangements to go to Washington in July, where he will have a nice position in the Interior Department. His main object in leaving the agency is to educate his boys. Mr. Wasson is a very effective worker in the Indian service, which he understands thoroughly. He served his country as a soldier, and carries wounds which render him unable to endure hard work.

A Mine Sold.

J. A. Blossom got $25,000 in gold coin for his mine named Highland Chief last week. It is in Lewis district, next to the Star & Grove. The Eagle mill and mine have about been sold for $100,000. The New York company that owns the Star & Grove are the purchasers. They will put up a big mill at once. If the wages had been reduced to $3.50 per day, over 200 men would have been put to work before this time.

Circuit Court.

The U. S. Circuit Court convened in Carson to-day. Lawyers Cain, Varian and Johnson are in attendance. The case of Raphael vs. the C. P. Railroad Co., and that of Olinghouse vs. Neil & Fish will be up for argument.

A Good Housewife.

The good housewife who is giving her house its spring renovating should bear in mind that the dear inmates of her house are more precious than many houses, and that their systems need cleansing by purifying the blood, regulating the stomach and bowels to prevent and cure the diseases arising from spring malaria and influenza, and she must know that there is nothing that will do it so perfectly and surely as Hop Bitters, the purest and best of medicines. E. rum, cherry and port wine and the finest Bit'igar in town. Remember the new place, Capitol saloon, Commercial Row, next door to Postoffice, Reno, Nevada. mar8-im

Workingmen.

Before you begin your heavy spring work after a winter of relaxation, your system needs strengthening and cleansing to prevent an attack of Ague, Bilious or Spring Fever, or some other spring sickness that will retard you for a season's work. # THOUSANDS OF FROZEN CATTLE

Stories of Terrible Hardships East of the Rockies—The Coldest Winter Ever Known—The Loss of Cattle Estimated at $10,000,000.

A representative of the Chicago Times, who has just returned from a tour through the cattle ranges lying between the Missouri River and the Rocky Mountains, reports that the winter in that section has been the severest ever experienced, and that the loss of cattle will exceed 400,000 head, valued at from $3,000,000 to $10,000,000. The poor brutes have died in myriads, whole herds being wiped out in a night. He says: The death rate among the cattle in that tract, which is embraced within lines extending north and south through Sidney and North Platte, towns on the Union Pacific Railroad, in Nebraska, 125 miles apart, is, in all probability, larger than anywhere else in the entire grazing country. The cattle men have designated this and the dry belt in Colorado as the "burnt districts." The Nebraska burnt district is 200 miles one way and 125 across on the south, and 175 on the north. There is an immense number of cattle in this area—a half million or more. There is a succession of mammoth herds on the North Platte, Loup, and Niobrara rivers, and the mortality among them is believed to be between 25 and 40 per cent., according to location. West of the Black Hills stage route from Sidney the loss will not be great, but east of that line they have died by thousands. On the Niobrara ranges, east of Antelope Creek, owners themselves admit a loss of 50 per cent., and south of that there is a bovine cemetery until the Platte is crossed.

The great loss in this particular region is due to the heavy snow storms, which were preceded by sleet and rain that converted the earth's surface into a sheet of ice. Even had there been no snow the cattle could not have gotten at the grass, which was under a coat of ice, but the snow aggravated the trouble somewhat, and for weeks the cattle endured the horrible torture of slow starvation. Thousands upon thousands drifted down upon the South Platte after grass and water, but as the river was frozen, they could get neither.

The recent heavy snow storms which visited eastern Nebraska and the Northwest did not trouble the burnt district, kindly veering off in another direction, and so there is a prospect of brighter days. Thousands of dead cattle cover the ground between Sidney and North Platte within sight of the railroad track. Many of them have been killed by the cars, but by far the larger number died of cold and starvation. They were massed between the two forks of the Platte which come together at North Platte, and the suffering of the poor brutes is said by those who saw them to have been frightful. They filled the air with their cries of agony, and wandered about until so weak that when they laid down to rest they could not get up again. Nothing could be done for their relief. It would have been a hopeless task to have tried to feed them. A thousand tons of hay would not have gone around. The poor things, overcome by the cold, could not be driven back on the snowy ranges. They resisted force by sullen refusal to budge, preferring to remain where they were and die than to move. They devoured every vestige of grass that could be seen, and even chewed the hair on their tails. The scenes that were witnessed by the settlers are described as heartrending.
